

Franklin Women

Loud and Proud: The art of self-promotion

#FWpledge Awards Resource

Awards	Open Date	Close Date	Nomination Type
Prime Minister's Prizes for Science	10 March 2018	26 March 2018	Need to be nominated
AIPS Tall Poppies	26 February 2018	9 April 2018	Need to be nominated
AAS honorific awards	18 February 2018	1 May 2018	Need to be nominated
Eureka Prizes	2 February 2018	4 May 2018	Self-nomination or nomination by others
AIPS CSL Florey Medal	24 April 2018	5 June 2018	Need to be nominated
Telstra Business Women's Awards	26 April 2018	15 June 2018	Self-nomination or nomination by others
Australian of the Year	Any time of the year	5 August 2018 (for 2019 nominations)	Need to be nominated
Order of Australia	Any time of year	n/a	Need to be nominated
Women in Technology	To be announced		Self-nomination or nomination by others
Research Australia Awards	To be announced		Self-nomination or nomination by others
NSW Women of the Year	To be announced		Need to be nominated
Westpac 100 Women of Influence	To be announced		Self-nomination
Superstars of STEM	To be announced		Self-nomination
Women's Agenda Leadership Awards	To be announced		Self-nomination or nomination by others
L'Oréal Awards for Women in Science	To be announced		Self-nomination
Bupa Health Foundation Emerging Health Researcher	To be announced		Nomination by others

Prime Minister's Prizes for Science

Details: These prizes inspire a sense of national pride by recognising achievements and success of Australian scientists.

Categories: Categories include science, innovation, life science, physical science and new innovators.

Dates: Entries are now open. Entries close 26 March 5pm (AEDT).

Nomination type: Need to be nominated.

Previous winners in our field: Professor Jenny Graves AO (University profile), Professor Sam Berkovic AC and Professor Ingrid Scheffer AO (article).

Link: <http://science.gov.au/community/PrimeMinistersPrizesforScience/Pages/default.aspx>

Australian Institute of Policy and Science (AIPS) Tall Poppies

Details: These awards were created to encourage younger Australians to follow in the footsteps of outstanding achievers. Nominees must be no more than 35 years of age at the nomination closing date.

Categories: An award for excellence in research achievement in the sciences is given for each Australian state and territory.

Dates: Entries are now open. Entries close 9 April 11.59pm.

Nomination type: Need to be nominated.

Previous winners in our field: Dr Jemma Geoghegan (Twitter) and Dr Emma Beckett (Twitter).

Link: www.aips.net.au/tall-poppies

Australian Academy of Science (AAS) honorific awards

Details: These awards aim to recognise and support outstanding contributions to the advancement of science.

Categories: There are three categories: early-career scientists, mid-career scientists and the prestigious career awards for life-long achievement. Each category has sub-categories for different areas of science, including biology and medical sciences.

Dates: Entries are now open. Entries close 1 May 9am (AEST).

Nomination type: Need to be nominated.

Previous winners in our field: Professor Anushka Patel (Linkedin profile) and Associate Professor Kathryn Holt (University profile).

Link: www.science.org.au/opportunities-scientists/recognition/honorific-awards

Eureka Prizes

Details: Unofficially called the Oscars of Science, the Australian Museum Eureka Prizes reward excellence in the fields of research and innovation, leadership, science engagement, and school science.

Categories: 17 prizes are awarded in four categories – Research and Innovation, Leadership, Science Engagement, and School Science.

Dates: Entries are now open. Entries close 4 May 7pm (AEST).

Nomination type: Self-nomination or nomination by others.

Previous winners in our field: Professor Tanya Monro (Twitter) and Associate Professor Madhu Bhaskaran (University profile)

Link: <https://australianmuseum.net.au/eureka/prizes>

AIPS CSL Florey Medal

Details: Awarded biennially, this award recognises an Australian biomedical researcher for significant lifetime achievements in biomedical science and/or human health advancement.

Categories: The CSL Florey Medal and CSL Young Florey Medal.

Dates: Entries open 24 April. Entries close 5 June.

Nomination type: Need to be nominated.

Previous winners in our field: Professor Carola Vinuesa (University profile).

Link: www.aips.net.au/news-events/the-florey-medal

Telstra Business Women's Awards

Details: Recognising and rewarding the courage, leadership and creativity of Australia's and Asia's most inspirational business women, the Awards empower women to take pride in their achievements and encourage them to set bold new goals for the future.

Categories: There are six categories including Public Sector and Academia Awards.

Dates: Entries open 26 April. Entries close 15 June midnight (AEST).

Nomination type: Self-nomination or nomination by others.

Previous winners in our field: Michelle Gallaher (Twitter) and Associate Professor Kate Hoy (Twitter).

Link: www.telstrabusinesswomensawards.com

Australian of the Year

Details: These awards celebrate the achievements and contributions of eminent Australians and recognise leading role models. They inspire us through their achievements and challenge us to make our own contribution to creating a better Australia.

Categories: Australian of the Year, Senior Australian of the Year, Young Australian of the Year, Australian Local Hero.

Dates: You can nominate at any time of the year. Nominations for 2019 Awards close on 5 August 2018.

Nomination type: Need to be nominated.

Previous winners in our field: Professor Michelle Yvonne Simmons (University Profile) and Dr Bo Reményi (Twitter).

Link: www.australianoftheyear.org.au/the-awards

Order of Australia

Details: The Order of Australia is amongst the most prestigious Australian awards, recognising outstanding members of the community at a national level.

Categories: There are four levels of award: Companion of the Order, Officer of the Order, Member of the Order, Medal of the Order.

Dates: Any time of the year.

Nomination type: Need to be nominated.

Previous winners in our field: Professor Jenny Martin (Twitter) and Professor Minoti Apte (University profile).

Link: www.gg.gov.au/australian-honours-and-awards/order-australia

Women in Technology

Details: These awards aim to support, develop and promote the achievements of women in technology by recognising and celebrating industry leaders.

Categories: These awards span a number of categories including Life Sciences Outstanding Achievement, Life Sciences Research Leader Award and Life Sciences Rising Star Award.

Dates: To be announced.

Nomination type: Self-nomination or nomination by others.

Previous winners in our field: Professor Colleen Nelson (University profile) and Dr Melina Georgousakis (Twitter).

Link: www.wit.org.au/WITawards

Research Australia Awards

Details: These awards are the health and medical research industry's night of nights. Recognising contributions in everything from cutting edge research through to advocacy, and philanthropic work, these awards are an opportunity to celebrate those who make life-changing advances possible.

Categories: Data Innovation, Griffith University Discovery Award, Health Services Research Award.

Dates: To be announced.

Nomination type: Self-nomination or nomination by others.

Previous winners in our field: Professor Sharon Lewin (Twitter) and Dr Avnika Ruparelia (Twitter)

Link: <https://researchaustralia.org/awards/>

NSW Women of the Year

Details: The NSW Women of the Year Awards celebrate outstanding contributions women make across NSW to industry, communities and society.

Categories: There are seven categories: NSW Premier's Woman of the Year, NSW Aboriginal Woman of the Year, Community Hero, Harvey Norman Young Woman of the Year, Rex Airlines Regional Woman of the Year, NSW Business Woman of the Year, First State Super Lifetime Achievement.

Dates: To be announced.

Nomination type: nomination by others.

Previous winners in our field: Professor Minoti Apte OAM (Research institute profile) and Professor Hala Zreiqat (University profile).

Link: www.women.nsw.gov.au/women_of_the_year_awards

Westpac 100 Women of Influence

Details: These awards recognise and promote Australian women who have dedicated their time and energy to help and encourage other women in their industry, and who are fighting for change every day.

Categories: There are 10 categories including public policy, young leader, global and innovation.

Dates: To be announced.

Nomination type: Self-nomination.

Previous winners in our field: Professor Karen Canfell (Institute profile), Professor Maria Kavallaris (Twitter) and Associate Professor Theresa Jacques (University profile)

Link: www.100womenofinfluence.com.au

Superstars of STEM

Details: This program recruits dynamic scientists and technologists to create role models for young women and girls, working towards equal representation in the media of men and women in STEM.

Categories: No categories.

Dates: To be announced.

Nomination type: Self-nomination.

Previous winners in our field: Dr Caroline Ford (Twitter) and Dr Clare Fedele (Twitter)

Link: <https://scienceandtechnologyaustralia.org.au/what-we-do/superstars-of-stem>

Women's Agenda Leadership Awards

Details: These awards celebrate women who are disrupting the status quo through inspiring leadership. This program focuses on emerging leadership talent. This program wants to find the household names of tomorrow, women who are leading teams and ideas that will change the world.

Categories: There are nine categories including Emerging Female Leader in the Government/Public Sector, Agenda Setter of the Year, Female Leader in the Technology Sector.

Dates: To be announced.

Nomination type: Self-nomination or nomination by others.

Previous winners in our field: Dr Lucy Palmer (Research institute profile)

Link: <http://womensleadershipawards.com.au/>

L'Oréal Awards for Women in Science

Details: The L'Oréal–UNESCO For Women in Science Australia and New Zealand Fellowships were launched in 2007 and have recognised 39 outstanding local scientists, supporting them to continue their research and help them rise to leadership positions in their field of expertise.

Categories: No categories.

Dates: 2018 closed. 2019 to be announced.

Nomination type: Self-nomination.

Previous winners in our field: Dr Jaclyn Pearson (University profile) and Associate Professor Muireann Irish (University profile)

Link: www.forwomeninscience.com.au

Bupa Health Foundation Emerging Health Researcher Award

Details: This award recognises the dedication of early career researchers and their valuable contribution to improving health outcomes for all Australians.

Categories: No categories.

Dates: To be announced.

Nomination type: Self-nomination.

Previous winners in our field: Associate Professor Gail Garvey (Twitter) and Dr Amanda McCullough (Twitter)

Link: <https://www.bupa.com.au/about-us/bupa-health-foundation/about>

We know we have missed many awards both specific to the science sector but also more general professional awards. Please send any you are aware of our way via Twitter (@FranklinWomen) or email (hello@franklinwomen.com.au) and we will be sure to promote!